

Twitter Roundup

by Dan Vorhaus

With so many developments at the intersection of genomics and the law, there are often a variety of interesting stories that, for one reason or another, don't find their way into a full-length posting on the Genomics Law Report. Here is a recap of what I was Tweeting recently @genomicslawyer:

- GPMA revived. RT @pgx_reporter: Kennedy/Eshoo Bill Tackles Hot Topics in Personalized Medicine <http://bit.ly/bkIT4U>
- RT @wilbanks Read this. RT @benadida: privacy advocacy theater <http://tinyurl.com/35ypos2>
- Skeptical that GNUBio will unveil a true $100 WGS next wk: <http://bit.ly/cPNS7s> If true, would take stealth to a new level
- Sure. I believe SNPedia is CC 3.0: <http://bit.ly/90Aad8> RT @shwu other CCs for non-PGP genomes? @wilbanks
- We already have it. PGP is using new CC0: <http://bit.ly/cDAbNX> RT @shwu: CC licenses for personal genomes?
- RT @dgmacarthur: Unknown seq tech co GnuBIO will allegedly unveil $100 genome platform next June: <http://bit.ly/bcSuUj> (via @eurogene)
- Personal Genetics: DTC or DTMD <http://bit.ly/9t4IIQ> by @eurogene // Interested to hear more re: Existence Genetics
- Reminder: biotech tax credit (up to $1BN total) guidance released by Treasury. Apps go in starting 6/21: <http://bit.ly/c52mcD>
- RT @dgmacarthur: Kudos to UC Berkeley for not bowing to the naysayers on genetic testing program: <http://bit.ly/cLRKW9> (via @pgx_reporter)
- Ignite Institute falls apart in Fairfax, VA. Will it succeed somewhere else? <http://bit.ly/bUCVoE> (HT @GeneSherpas)
- Berkeley seems to be sticking w/ all aspects of original plan, except for giving away @23andMe kits as prizes: <http://bit.ly/95QwLV>
- Update on Berkeley's genetic testing of incoming Freshman: <http://nyti.ms/bpnHXR> & here's the Dean's FAQ: <http://bit.ly/aDclqo>
- MedCo expands lineup of genetic tests; CVS Caremark to follow suit: <http://bit.ly/adlqA7>
- OpenHelix Debuts Tutorial Aimed at Hipping MDs to Genetic Testing Advances <http://bit.ly/9doqBJ> Are MDs using/liking this?
- Healthcare Data Risk Greatest from Human Error: <http://bit.ly/9hngnB>
- Why the Patent Cliff alone will not save biotech, by @crossborderbio: <http://ow.ly/17utNE>
- Transparency First: A Proposal for DTC Genetic Testing Regulation <http://bit.ly/bWYbic>
- Unimpressed by @ArthurCaplan op-ed. Offers reread arguments against DTC while missing the boat on FDA & CLIA: <http://bit.ly/dksJw3>
- RT @blaine_5 But aren't you biased MyRAQA? RT @OnlineBiotech: Getting DTC Genomics Right: <http://bit.ly/b7V8Vr> (also <http://ow.ly/1P1nW>)
- Betting on Bilski: The Supreme Court and Biotechnology Patents: <http://bit.ly/bmv5i1>
- RT @DukelGSP: Natural gas retailer hires law firm to fend off claims that they fired a woman based on her BRCA status. <http://bit.ly/aJt79c>
- House votes to expand national DNA arrest database: <http://bit.ly/blGUkS> (HT @MishaAngrist)
- RT @gw_dailyscan: Illumina as Intel, Life Tech as AMD, and Helicos as RISC?: <http://bit.ly/9fFx8E>
- Ethicists, Researchers Weigh In on Returning Results to Study Participants at CSHL Meeting <http://bit.ly/ayKxrt> (@gw_dailyscan)
- RT @DukelGSP: Berkeley sticking to plan to test 3 genes of incoming freshman despite critics <http://bit.ly/cx30GK>
- Sounds like "Open Consent" RT @SusannahFox: Facebook, @PatientsLikeMe & a new convo abt health privacy <http://is.gd/ciSMI>